I am shocked and outraged by the bullying incident at Holabird Middle School, where I went many years ago. I have asked BCPS for a full investigation and appropriate action be taken. My heart goes out to the Selby family. I have repeatedly asked BCPS and the School Board to bring their discipline policies into line with the current state of our schools, and this incident is further proof, as if we needed any more, that some of our classrooms are out of control and stronger oversight and disciplinary action is necessary.

Dawn Taylor Not fare to blame it all on section 8 housing. How about lack of parenting and lack of being held accountable by our juvenile justice system, schools, and parents? There are no doubt problems with some areas that have a high section 8 population but there are also some hard working people who are in section 8. There is also a high population of addicts in Dundalk that are contributing to the it's demise.

Eric Davis Sr. The sad part to this whole story first is that it took over a day and a half for it to make the news. And as usual the county councilmen want to raise his hand and say he has been trying to change this during his tenure in office. Maybe if he stopped posting about school closings and opening late. He obviously doesn't have his eye on the ball until after all this happens. First question should be where was resource officers for school where was the captain of Dundalk's precinct and why wasn't the young lady that did the assault removed by school police.

Rebecca Wiseman Lewis Melcher I agree with that statement.

Section 8 - non judgmental statement bc it doesn't apply to everyone but also is in what areas? I didn't designate that it just is- bad areas

Low income
Drug dealers
Low community care
Atmosphere is low moral and care
Kids roaming streets
People trashing up things
Robbery bc of poverty
Murder
Prostitution is up in those areas

None of these are determined by color but are a result of life choices or being stuck .. and can happen to any one of any color when they consume the city.

Make people reach higher ..

Other areas where the section 8 is not as casual... can problems arise anywhere? Sure! But they're not as blatant and out of control

Now

Since we discussed section 8 again

Let's get back to the school board , politicians, school leaders not protecting or doing their jobs for our kids ... in real time

Bc when my daughter had her issues two years ago I didn't shut up but they tried

Politicians wanted lime light then I never heard from them again ... beautiful post heck hailie (my daughter) didn't even get that ! Crooked superintendent tried telling me that a boy touching and grabbing my daughters privates and telling her what he wanted to do to her was not as bad as I'm making it! So I threw their own handbook in their face that they didn't even know the policies to! I was told certain rules weren't in there I showed it was tot he vice principal who apologized then Mr dance needed a few to read the hand boom himself !!!

They're all controlled by money and protecting their names

No one wants to just make parents accountable

My daughter just a few weeks ago got into it w a little boy

She was tired of his crap and went off but it's no excuse ! I had her suspended !!! Bc suspension from the bus for three days doesn't punish her it punishes me when I have a new born and an older son I'm already homeschooling bc he was threatened w a knife last year at his school and they did nothing !!!

Politicians are just as crooked and fake ..

So please tell me !!??

What politician is gonna MAKE it happen!!!!?

Make a public scene and hold these schools accountable by law ???!!

Take their handbook and start executing the consequences no mater who gets upset !

Clarice Neukam This needs to be investigated not just in one school but From what I see and hear this is a totally serious issue not just in Baltimore County but most likely addressed Statewide. A young boy at Overlea was left dangling by his shirt from the corner of what appeared to be a locker and the "youth" that did this took a selfie of it and it was posted on FB. These lids are totally out of control. I guess the timeouts didn't work after all. No discipline allowed anymore in schools and kids have no fear of punishment because there isn't any. What a shame another family, the Selby's are now going through this!

CJ Polley Unfortunately this is what happens when kids are brought up to believe the world revolves around them and that no one can discipline them. It starts at home and carries over to the school. This is your entitled generation, it is such a shame because we have entered the part of the slope that was once slippery and now is just no point of return. Sparrows point middle had a boy who terrorized many students on a daily basis, secretaries and teachers and parents complained but the boy was still allowed in school every day. It reached the point where the kids that were there didn't even want to go to school. It is truly sad that we can't protect our kids from this b.s. and let's be honest is it really going to change?

The goal should be to lift the weaker kids up so they hit the bar, not lower the bar until it hits them. Goes against every principle this country is supposed to be about. This is not an isolated incident, it just happened to be caught on video. Make no mistake about it, this comes from way higher up than the teacher. How are children expected to learn, grow, and thrive when their classrooms are like war zones(and our son was in all GT classes...scared me to imagine how the regular classes were)? What about "Zero Tolerance" for assaults?" I was then informed that children can't even be expelled permanently from schools except under very special circumstances. Most they get is 1 quarter at a disciplinary school in Rosedale then back to regular school. It is appalling!!! During my visit to my daughters 3rd grade classroom during American education week this school year I was further appalled. To see these young students run rampant in a classroom and the teacher left speechless when a student tells her to "go shut the fk up". My jaw about hit the floor. Never in my life had I myself been more frustrated at the blatant disrespect, nor have I ever wanted to put a child over my knee more then that moment. Teachers have been left with no choices of discipline, and administrators do not take swift tough action and these kids know it. I don't know where the power to get these kids in line went, but it needs to be brought back! I do believe as well that parents should be held accountable for their child's behavior in school! Respect is taught at home!

Jennifer Frado Agreed. It's sad when you attend the back to school night at your child's school. DMS in my case, and the principal says his goal is to get suspension rates down and minority suspension rates down to undee 10%. Well that tells me your concern is with numbers and not the safety of our children. And the children know they get the "free pass" for their disgusting behavior.

Tony Ambro Agreed.....and the kids need a self defense clause again. No one should have to sustain that type of violence for fear of their own future. That is inhumel!

Johnathan Jones That girls actions are unacceptable and disgusting but it is up to the parents, the school and the law to handle. Adults harassing a child is just as disgusting and unacceptable

She is a child regardless. What kind of man would say such a thing to a female especially a 12year old girl?

Johnathan Jones That's just a few. Adults are threatening a child calling her vulgar names. I saw a man even say she deserves a bat to the face. I agree discipline the child and fight bullying but at the same time you're shaming the child the adults are getting away with the same thing.

Michelle Lynn Rosenberger Rode Thanks Todd for following thru....they need to be, "ACCOUNTABLE." To many serious incidents are going uninvestigated.....this is a serious issue. There's peer pressure and then theirs this. Straight up violence! These children are learning this behavior from somewhere. I believe it starts at home and parents need to be educated about this. Children have committed suicide over bullying.
